PBH Forum

We have an active online discussion forum where you can share information about wildlife sightings and get recommendations for services. Need a good plumber? Want to know who to call to clear your snow? You can post your question to over 300 other residents, and someone will give you advice.

This forum also serves as a neighborhood watch group. When roads are icy and accident cleanup has Linden closed, someone is likely to post to let the rest of us know to stay away. The PBH Forum is unmoderated, so every resident can post to the entire neighborhood immediately.

The forum is also used by our Boulder Mountain Fire Chief Benson and the BMFPD Public Information Officer to communicate about fire conditions and share other important information.

To join, just go to <http://pbhforum.com> and click the blue button labeled "Apply For Membership In This Group".

PineBrookHills Google Group

A discussion group for residents of Pine Brook Hills who choose to exchange information that may be of interest to the community. Created and moderated by PBH residents. Approximately 110 members.

To join the PBH Google group you need to have a gmail account. While logged in to that account go to Google Groups at <https://groups.google.com>. At the top is a dropdown box with My Groups. Click the dropdown arrow, click on All Groups and search for pinebrookhills.

Click on PineBrookHills@googlegroups.com at the top. This will take you to a screen with Ask to Join Group. Click on that and be sure to include your actual full name in display name. Where it says Reason for Joining, put in your address as we limit the group to PBH residents and select others such as offsite children or parents.
